

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Facilitating the unifying of management of information on a plurality of manufacture entrusted companies without development cost for a new system, in the case of consigning the manufacture to a plurality of manufacture entrusted companies. An information provision system comprising: a database for unifying management of production progress information on a plurality of manufacturers; a storage processing means for storing, into the database, the production progress information on the plurality of manufacturers transmitted based on a common specification; and a display data creation processing means for extracting necessary information from information managed in the database, in response to a request from a manufacture consignment source, and for creating display data, wherein the display data is transmitted to a terminal of the manufacture consignment source and is displayed thereon.